ALL SORTS.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.
—Travel to the Lake still continues.

—Morrow's bonds are fixed at $10,000.

—The San Francisco wheat clique is busted.

—The Hofer Bros. will move into the North section of Bell's new building in a few days.

—A new baseball club called the Holy Terrors has been organized in this city.

—The lawn party at Mrs. Captain Winnie's last evening was a pleasant affair to all who participated.

—The Kentucky election caused great joy to the Democrats, notwithstanding the Republican gains.

—For Sale.—A large roomy residence in the Western part of the city. Finelocation. Apply at this office.

—The mines of Butte City Montana have succeeded in hoisting 712 cars of rock a day. This beats all previous records.

—Mrs. R. C. Hooker, daughter of Senator Stewart, arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning on a visit to her mother.

—The Caledonian picnic will be held at Bowers' Mansion next Saturday. A day at Bowers' Mansion will drive away a year of cares.

—All persons desiring to witness the ball game at Hawthorne on Sunday will please leave their names at Avery's or Notewares. Round trip tickets $7.50.

—Judge Torhy, of San Francisco, recently reversed a case because in the papers made out ordering the imprisonment of the defendant the Clerk used a rubber stamp and the letter got blurred. It looks as if the Court's horse sense was a trifle blurred.

—The attention of the County Commissioners the other day being called to the law regarding the doors of public buildings to open outwards, they ordered the doors of the county building taken off the hinges until they could be fixed to swing in the legal direction.

—Sunday three men were working on a staging at Crystal Springs, Napa county, painting the new portion of the Seventh Day Adventists' Sanitarium at that place, when the rope broke and all three were precipitated a distance of some thirty feet to the ground below and received severe injuries.

—The citizens of Portland, Or., have decided to offer a cash subsidy in the proportion of $1 to every $3 furnished by anyone who will build, equip and give bonds to maintain a hotel in that city, or else they will join in organizing a stock company for that purpose. No plan calling for any expenditure of less than $5,000,000 will be entertained.

—A company has been organized at San Diego to start a town at False Bay, ten miles from town. The establishment of a college is part of the company's scheme, with Rev. Dr. Sprecher late of San Francisco, President. There is to be a part for ladies and Professors' chairs will be filled by men of recognized merit from the East.

—Hicks a British Columbia pilot, has been ordered not to navigate in Puget Sound waters by Captain Bryant, Government Inspector of hulls for the Port Townsend district. "British Columbia pilots should not be allowed to come into American waters and compete with American pilots," says the Inspector. "and if the customs officers fail to attend to matter, we inspectors will take a hand in the affair ourselves."

—From the gentleman who came over from Oroville yesterday, says the Chico Chronical of the 1st, we learn that a couple of prospectors who were working a few miles above that town struck a very rich gravel mine a few days ago. They have found several nuggets, and one of them weighed an ounce and a half, while another weighed a half ounce. They found a number from the size of a pin head up to a pea. Their find has stimulated a number of others, and the whole country around there is now full of prospectors.

BUFFALO BILL.

The Wide Swath He is Cutting in London.

Hearing it insinuated in certain quarters that Buffalo Bill's boom in London was being overated, the APPEAL telegraphed yesterday to its regular London Correspondent, to investigate the real facts and cable them at once. The following dispatch was received last evening but too late to get it all in type. We give the main features however: Special to the APPEAL.]

LONDON, Aug. 3.—I called on Buffalo Bill at his dressing rooms this evening but had to wait some time as Queen Victoria was there swapping anecdotes with him while he fixed up for the show. When I was finally admitted I found Gladstone sitting on one of Bill's knees, and Victoria on the other. He addresses them as "Pard" and "Vicky".

It is rumored that the Queen is hard at work making Bill an embroidered night gown to take back to America. The young ladies of the royal family knit a pair of socks for Bill every week, which he wears once and then sells them to the creme de la creme of British society, for $10 a pair and unwashed at that.

Bill is really quite a favorite over here with everybody and the British noblemen act as his stable boys just to brag that they have been behind the scenes of the Wild West Show. Bill is obliged to be quite reserved at times and put on considerable hauteur in order to enable the nobility to realize his true importance.

The other day during the Queen's Jubilee the Emperor of Austria took the liberty of calling on Bill without a previous introduction, and Bill pitched him out of the window in good shape, remarking:

"How dare you call on an American gentleman without an introduction?"

The King was quite taken with the American sang froid and sent Bill an apology written on cream laid paper with the King's seal on top.

He and the Prince of Wales go round back of the show to a little beer saloon and play cinch until almost morning. Bill invariably sticking his prospective royal highness for the drinks. Parliament yesterday passed a bill by an unanimous vote, giving Mr. Cody the right to ride free on the street cars in Her Majesty's Kingdom, for 99 years.

They were about to make it 100 years but somebody found an old Medieval law of the reign of James the 1st (author of King James Bible) which prevented any longer franchise. From what I can see Bill is quite at home in London and everybody wears long hair in Piccadilly, American style. This morning the Supervisors of London held a special meeting to pass an ordinance allowing Bill to get drunk anywhere in the city limits, without arrest.

He has orders to shoot any officer on the spot who attempts to take him in. As soon as Bill gets acquainted he will make some money here.

860 WORDS COLLECT.

Pat. Lannon on His Muscle.

The other day Pat. Lannon, one of the proprietors of the Salt Lake Tribune had a fist fight with an Attorney named Rawlins whom the Tribune had accused of having Mormon leanings. If Pat's fist is as heavy now as when he used to weigh beef in Virginia City, he ought to have easily licked his man.

Estray.

Broke into my enclosure about June 1st, one roan cow, marked, swallow fork in right ear and under bit and crop on left. Branded on left hip. Owner is requested to come forward prove property, pay charges and receive the cow.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became a Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

—Prof. C. S. Young was in the city yesterday.

Pass Him Around.

The following article, clipped from a Montana paper, has been sent with a request that it be published in order to protect the public from being taken in by a first class bilk:

Chas. S. Wright, the "nominal" proprietor of the "Dillon Semi-Weekly Examiner," suspended the publication of the paper last Saturday. There was no necessity for its suspension, as it was paying having a good circulation, a large advertising patronage, and a big run of job printing. Wright disposed of the blank stock—a big pile—the contract for doing the county printing, and after settling up some of his advertising bills he skipped on Monday night for Soda Springs, Idaho, or for Mexico. The principal parties Wright bilked are R. M. Cobban, of Butte, J. R. Wilson, and the Pioneer Press Co., of St. Paul to which may be added many smaller claims. When a bilk like Wright injures the newspaper business generally it is a duty devolving on journalists to pass him around gratuitously. Montana and Idaho papers will please copy.

JOHN RUSSELL WILSON.

The Books Must be Produced.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 2.—The United States District Attorney presented the petition of the Pacific Railway Commission before the Circuit Court this morning, asking that the books desired by the Commission be ordered produced. An order to show cause why the order should not be granted, directing Frank G. Dooty to produce the books demanded by the Commission, was granted by Judge Sawyer and made returnable by 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, before Justice Field and Judges Sawyer and Hoffman.

The University President.

Governor Stevenson, President of Board of Directors of the State University, said last night that President LeRoy D. Brown was expected in Reno about August 15. His coming has been delayed by reason of the dangerous illness of the President of the bank at Alliance, Ohio. The bank referred to is one which was recently organized by Professor Brown, of which he is an officer and in which he is financially interested.

Meteorological Report.

CARSON CITY, June 1st, 1887.

The following is a report of earthquakes noted and observations made during the month of July, 1887.

July 7th—Light earthquake at 1:50 A. M.

July 9th—Light rain from 2:40 A. M. to 3:25 A. M.; two light showers at 4 A. M.

A New Sucker in Town.

The Stockton Mail is responsible for the following: "When an Eastern man arrives in Los Angeles and deposits his wealth at one of the local banks, the bank president claps on his plug hat and frantically hunts up a real estate speculator with the information: "There's a new sucker in town. Got $25,000. Go for him!"

The Weather Station.

Meteorological Director Friend yesterday received a letter from Washington informing him that a Signal Service station had been established in Carson City under his charge and that the Department would immediately forward the necessary instruments.

Eureka Hose.

The Warren Company have just received their Eureka hose of E. B. Rail, sole agent for this State. It was delivered for $1.25 a foot, and there are 600 feet. The Warrens need not be afraid of any more busted hose now.

The Veil of Futurity.

Mrs. Bowers, the Washoe Seeress, can be found the next few days at Room 38, Arlington House, where she can be consulted on the future.

—Cap. Jim Townsend, one of the most original men of the West, leaves today for Mono county, to look after a big mine, of which he has recently become the owner. Everybody hopes that Jim will make a cool million.
